

How do you improve world-class products?

With world-class distribution.

When the Mid-Atlantic leading distributor of industrial automation components partners with the most respected name in factory automation, it's pretty big news.

Faber Industrial Technologies figured you'd want to know that we're working with Omron, the automation industry's #1 supplier of sensors, timers, counters and relays to deliver the highest quality products, services, and solutions for our customer's most demanding requirements.

With Omron's product as our primary Automation and Control line, Faber Industrial Technologies now offers:

- » Extensive local inventory – fast delivery of in-stock parts for your MRO needs.
- » On-site training
- » Factory certified application engineers
- » Knowledgeable technical support

So now, you can count on the Faber Industrial Technologies / Omron partnership to reduce your downtime, design time, and overtime.

It's just another way we're working to make your job easier.
